

Speech Contest

The 'WFWP Speech Contest for Young Women in the UK' was established in 2015 in order to expand the horizon of our educational activities by giving young women an opportunity to speak in public about their opinions, beliefs and values. Through this contest women (aged between 18 and 39) demonstrate their eloquence, ability to grasp relevant content and to persevere with dedication from the initial application to the final speech on a stage before a live audience. We believe that this process will be an educational and rewarding experience for those that choose to take part.

There is a monetary prize for first, second and third places as well as the opportunity for the winning candidate to present their speech at WFWP UK conferences which include locations like the House of Commons.
